

Workshop

Shaping future careers in Science: Science Teachers and Career Officers explore common fields.

Introduction

The 3rd International workshop organized by the SEEP Network invites Career Counselors and Advisors, Science Educators and other experts from the relevant fields to explore methodologies (techniques, methods and means) that cultivate core skills for practitioners that contribute effectively in shaping future career choices and pathways in science through participative presentations, case studies and exercises.

Organization and participants

The workshop is organized in plenary sessions followed by round table discussions and break-out groups. The nature of the meeting is intended to be multidisciplinary and interactive in several aspects. It includes international speakers and participants, bringing together Science teachers, School managers and administrators, Policymakers and Stakeholders in Science Education at Secondary level.
